Who we are

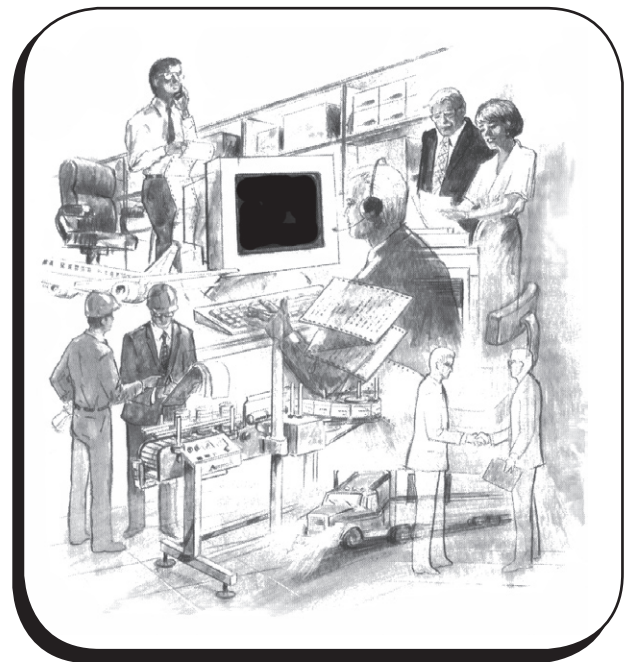

Richards Company provides solutions to our customers' Motion Control applications, utilizing the best available Industrial Technology.

Founded in 1964, we are privately-held, veteran and woman owned, and owner-managed to this day.

We are one of many small business organizations providing the bulk of employment and opportunity in the US economy.

We work to establish and maintain mutually beneficial relationships with our customers, employees, and vendor partners.

We've applied over 40 years' experience in Industrial Technology to our customers' problems in production, design, maintenance, and procurement, in all 50 states, and many countries worldwide.

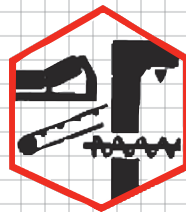

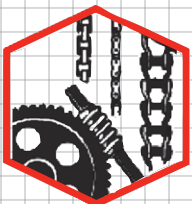

What we do

We represent the leading names in Industrial Technology. We connect our customers to an extensive nationwide inventory network and knowledge base from the finest manufacturers of Industrial Drives, Bearings and Conveyor Components.

We offer over 500,000 items, and a wealth of product knowledge earned in over forty years of in-the-field experience. We combine these resources to develop cost-effective solutions to production, design, maintenance and procurement problems that meet or surpass the needs of our customers.

We'll supply the best solutions, at the right price and on time, while providing the highest level of customer service and satisfaction.
